

Tough Policy Prevents Riot

New Plan In Koje Pays Off

Koje Island, Korea, Thursday, May 22 —(AP)—The tough policy of Brig. Gen. Laydon L. Boatner prevented a riot that threatened this stormy prison camp after a U. S. soldier killed a menacing Red prisoner.

The new commander disclosed Wednesday it happened last Saturday. It was the fourth Red uprising in five days. Three were on Koje and the fourth broke out Tuesday at nearby Pusan, when another prisoner was killed.

Boatner's firm policy was paying off. He put down the first two revolts last week without bloodshed. Some prisoners have hauled down defiant posters which Boatner said were insulting. Communist flags still fly over the compounds, however.

Witnesses to the Saturday shooting said the prisoner had been the leader of a work detail which was returning from the outside to compound 602.

They reported he halted the line of prisoners at the gate, ordered them to sit down, and began to shout at the American guard.

He refused to be searched, a requirement of all prisoners who leave or enter the barbed wire stockades. The argument grew hot. The guard fired a warning shot.

Boatner said the guard apparently thought the angry prisoner was about to attack and fired twice, killing him.

Three Riots Since Boatner Took Over

Boatner took over only nine days ago. There have been three revolts since. Two last week in the hospital compound and the women's prison quarters were quelled without bloodshed.

Boatner was sent here after the May 7 affair, when Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd was kidnapped by prisoners. He was ransomed with concessions that caused repercussions all the way back to Washington.

(In Washington, senators investigating the Dodd affair called in secret session Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who was Far East commander at the time. He was quoted as saying that fanatical Communists in prison camps had committed atrocities against their own comrades and ruled the camps by terror.)

Makes New Attack On Foreign Aid Bill In House

Washington, May 21 —(P)—Rep. Merrow (R-NH) opened a new attack on the administration's foreign aid bill today with a demand that it be cut an additional $500 million dollars.

He proposed to the House that most of the reduction be made in the funds President Truman has requested for economic assistance to nations allied with the United States.

The House foreign affairs committee already has chopped the measure down from $7,900,000,000 to $6,889,000,000.

Rep. Richards (D-SC), committee chairman, told the House that if it cut any deeper it might throw away "the best chance of avoiding world war III."

As the mutual security debate got off to a fast start, W. Averell Harriman, Mutual Security Administrator, said Congress is "toying with the future security of the United States" in considering further reductions in the program for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

In the House, Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) called for further reductions in the $1,400,000,000 earmarked for economic aid to Europe. Vorys did not specify the amount of trimming he had in mind.

Economic aid is intended to prime western European industry with machine tools and raw materials needed in a rearmament economy.

Vorys said the bill should require European nations to make further progress toward unification before receiving more aid funds.

Rep. Javits (R-NY) told the House the time to quit the international buildup was not "when we are beginning to succeed." That's the time to drive on hard, he said.

MOROCCAN GIRL TO WED IN ILLINOIS

New York, May 21 —(P)—Susan Ohana, 21, Moroccan fiancée of a Sycamore, Ill., sailor, today was ordered released from Ellis Island and admitted to the United States, immigration authorities reported.

Donald Reinhardt, 21, a navy seabee now stationed at Davisville, Rhode Island, plans to take Miss Ohana to his parents' Illinois home for the wedding. They met when he was stationed at Port Lyautey more than a year ago.

Soybean Men Ask OPS To Lift Ceiling

Decatur, Ill., May 21 —(P)—A group of soybean processors and growers have asked the Office of Price Stabilization to set aside the present soy bean oil meal ceiling price of $81 a ton.

Jasper Di Giovanni, president of the Decatur Soy Products company, said a protest charging that the ceiling is illegal was filed with the OPS in Washington Monday.

The group charged that the ceiling denied growers the legal minimum price of $3.06 a bushel established for soy beans under the defense production act of 1950. They said processors can't pay growers that price and make a profit under the oil meal ceiling.

Di Giovanni said others joining in the protest were David G. Wing, Mechanicsburg, O., farmer; John W. Evans, Montevideo, Minn., farmer; and Albert Dimond, Lovington, Ill., farmer, the three directors of the American Soy Bean Association, and the following:

Northern Iowa cooperative processing association of Marly, Ia., Spencer Kellogg & Sons Inc., Buffalo, N.Y.; Funk Brothers Seed Co., Bloomington, Ill.; and Haynes Soy Products, Inc., Portland, Ind.

FBI Arrests Two Former Employees In Naval Holdup

Boston, May 21 —(P)—Two former civilian employees of the Quonset Point R.I., naval air station were arrested tonight for a brazen $100,000 armed holdup there last March 7. A New York night club singer was held as a material witness.

The arrests were made by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which reported one of the men was carrying bills identified as part of the loot. It declined, however, to say how much of the loot was recovered.

The FBI identified the three in custody as:

Howard Hildebrandt, 25, West Warwick, R.I., a helper and airplane mechanic who went to work at the station Feb. 10, 1947 and gave up his job only last week. He was on the payroll the day of the robbery but did not work that day nor the preceding day, March 6.

HST Wishes Brown Favorite Son Of Calif. 'Good Luck'

By The Associated Press

President Truman wished "Good Luck" yesterday (Wednesday) to a California favorite-son opponent of Senator Estes Kefauver, but the White House indicated this was not a top-Kefauver move.

Truman still hasn't named his choice for the Democratic presidential nomination but has been described as cool toward Kefauver.

The incident developed when California State Attorney General Edmund G. Brown, who will oppose Kefauver in California's June 3 presidential primary election, emerged from a White House talk with Truman.

Brown quoted the president as saying he hoped Brown's forces would win over Kefauver in next Tuesday's west coast election. Brown said Truman authorized him to make the statement.

New Symbol For Uncle Sam Appears In Iran

Tehran, Iran, May 21 —(P)—A floppy eared, bug-eyed jackass is fast supplanting the familiar figure of Uncle Sam in Iran as the symbol of the United States.

Not a day passes but one newspaper or another carries a front page cartoon showing the jackass in varying moods—sometimes plotting against Iran's independence, sometimes offering the country needed help, various, surely depending on the paper's political affiliation.

Usually, the old figure of Uncle Sam is somewhere in the cartoon. But readers now know without being told that the jackass means the United States.

Iranian papers, forgetting all the good that Point Four was doing in the country, immediately seized on the "pore critter."

Whenever the newspapers thought they spotted something wrong in the Point Four program, they trotted out the floppy eared, bug-eyed jackass.

When an anti-government newspaper wanted to lampoon Premier Mohammed Mossadegh for agreeing last month to resumption of U. S. military aid, it showed him astride a donkey going off to fight America's battles.

Foreign Minister Bagher Kazemi had to explain that the Iranian army had been importing foreign jackasses to improve the breed and that was why the animals were brought over.

He said Point Four paid only for the transportation and that Iran herself paid for the animals.

Sharp Words Traded In Peace Talks

Munsan, Korea, Thursday, May 22 —(P)—Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, in his farewell statement as chief Allied truce delegate, told the Reds today "there is nothing left to negotiate—the decision is in your hands."

Communist truce negotiators Wednesday charged the United Nations command planned to herd thousands of prisoners into the U. S. Eighth army "to serve as your cannon fodder."

This was their reply to a tongue-lashing by Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, who accused the Reds of violating just about every rule in the book governing treatment of prisoners.

Joy bows out today as the top U. N. negotiator after 10 weary, exasperating months. He is the only remaining member of the original five-man truce team which opened the talks last July 10.

He will make his farewell appearance at 11 a. m. at Panmunjom (9 p. m. Wednesday CDT). Then he will prepare to leave the Far East to become superintendent of the U. S. Naval academy at Annapolis.

The man who always walks behind Joy in the parade to the truce tent, Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr., takes over as the senior delegate Friday.

Joy traded sharp words with North Korean Gen. Nam Il for an hour Wednesday.

Nam declared a riot at Pusan prison camp Tuesday was new proof that the Allies "murder" their captives. U. S. guards killed one prisoner and wounded 85 in quelling a Red rebellion.

Nam accused the Allies of violating the United Nations charter, saying they had used violence against North Korean and Chinese prisoners.

Then Joy took over. He declared Nam's charges were designed to "generate enmity" and "to block an armistice."

Joy wanted to know about the 50,000 Allied soldiers, mostly South Koreans, whom the Reds once claimed they captured but whose names were not on prisoner lists exchanged last Dec. 18.

Ask Congress To Investigate Kaiser's Contract

Washington, May 21 —(P)—Rep. O'Konski (R-Wis) charged today that industrialist Henry Kaiser swindles the government out of "millions of dollars a year" by "padding his own key men in proper departments." Kaiser promptly called the allegations "malicious and unfounded."

O'Konski called for a congressional investigation of Kaiser and his methods to "assure that this man and these methods shall not continue to thrive on the perils of his country."

O'Konski declared aircraft contracts involving large sums of defense money are granted to Kaiser-Frazer to bail it out of financial trouble.

He also demanded a probe "of the manner in which procurement officials of the U. S. defense department squander billions and take care of their friends, rather than procure planes and plane equipment."

The air force had no immediate comment.

O'Konski charged that Kaiser's Chase Corp. was awarded the contract for 150 cargo planes a year ago "but not a single plane has been produced." He said one plane had been unveiled at Kaiser's Willow Run plant but declared "all of the parts for this plane were actually made at the Hagerstown, Md., plant of Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corp."

The legislator said that, in a period of several years, Kaiser enterprises have received over 165 million dollars in RFC funds and "it is known that negotiations are under way for a further loan at this very moment."

Kaiser, in a statement issued here, said he would welcome a congressional investigation.

Brannan Says Solons Created Scandal Situation

Washington, May 21 —(P)—Agriculture Secretary Brannan set off a table-thumping senatorial row on the subject of political manipulation of farm prices today by accusing congress of creating the conditions for the grain storage scandals.

In between rounds of the word battle he stoutly defended his department's performance in the storage program as a "grand job" done under difficulties. He was witness in the Senate agriculture committee's investigation of multi-million dollar shortages of products bought up to support prices.

The shortages occurred in products which had been placed in commercial warehouses or stored on the farm as security for loans to farmers.

Brannan set the price-politics talk going with testimony that some of the troubles were caused by limitations he said congress put into the Commodity Credit Corporation law in 1948. He said the result was that CCC could not take needed steps to expand storage facilities for the great crops that year.

Senator Aiken (R-Vt), who headed the agriculture committee in the Republican-controlled congress of 1948, came back quickly with the accusation that Brannan had distorted the events.

He said the department agreed to the law and helped write it.

"But then," he said, "somebody got the idea to spread it around the country that there was a lack of storage space. The price of grain was forced down a billion dollars and they put the blame on congress."

"They played a dirty trick on the farmers. They lost a billion dollars for purely political reasons. They're not going to do it again this year if I can stop it."

Life Savings Burn, Only Ashes Left Of $43,550

Dayton, O., May 21 —(P)—Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. White got married 25 years ago after they saved up a modest sum. And they decided they would live frugally and save something for their old age.

White worked as a machinist and Mrs. White clerked in a five-and-ten-cent store. They lived in a $12-a-month house. They didn't buy a car. They didn't smoke, drink and only occasionally saw a movie at a neighborhood theater.

They saved and saved. Finally, last weekend they counted up. They had $43,550—435 bills of $100 denomination.

"We'd better put this in the bank Monday," they said.

So, Monday morning Mrs. White put the money in its usual hiding place—a muslin bag pinned to her slip. But she had to clerk from noon until late in the evening and so she didn't get the money to the bank.

Monday night, the Whites told police today, the money was gone. After a day of searching, they decided the money had been burned up in the trash Monday morning. They theorized it had dropped into trash that Mrs. White gathered and burned.

But, the only thing they have to bolster their theory is a pile of gray and black ashes. That's the only thing they have left, too, of their life savings.

BRITISH MAIL TRUCK HIJACKED IN LONDON

London, May 21 —(P)—Seven bandits hijacked a British mail truck in downtown London early today, clubbed its three guards and made off with loot valued up to 100,000 pounds ($230,000).

The loot included 44,500 pounds in currency, soiled but still negotiable, being sent to the bank of England for destruction.

Scotland yard authorities believe the raid may have been carried out by the same gang that stole 11,000 pounds from the mail car of a train in southern England May 13. They suspect the gang has contact men who notify it when valuable mail is moving.

The bandits, masked by black silk scarves and handkerchiefs, struck in two stolen cars with split-second timing before dawn. They blocked off the mail truck in a quiet side street near Regents Park and used blackjacks or the unmarked truck driver and his two helpers.

Prefer Human Operator To Dial Telephones

Springfield, Ill., May 21 —(P)—Bondville residents today told the state commerce commission that dial telephone service may be good but they preferred their human operator, Mrs. Julia Eakin.

They testified on a Champaign County Telephone company proposal to install dial service and raise rates $29,740 annually.

The commission took these requests and a plan to borrow $453,000 from the Rural Electrification Administration under advisement.

Robert Rayburn, Bondville farmer, testified that Mrs. Eakin promoted the Methodist church chicken suppers and saw to it that flowers were procured when one of the community's 200 citizens died.

"Maybe we're not supposed to have that—but that's service. We're going to miss her. Can't you leave Bondville the way it is and give everybody else dial if they want it?" Rayburn asked.

James L. Capel of Champaign, company vice president, said no. He said he was going to miss Mrs. Eakin too but that the 45-year-old switchboard company has in Mrs. Eakin's residence can no longer be repaired.

Rayburn and Capel told that Mrs. Eakin sees to it that a minister or priest calls on the sick.

Capel said Mrs. Eakin has been Bondville's unofficial secretary for more than 30 years.

"If mama goes to town to get her hair fixed, she calls Mrs. Eakin and asks her to tell daughter Dorothy she should go to Uncle Henry's for supper when she comes home," Capel said.

Harold Herbert, Bondville businessman, repeated former testimony that dial service would slow up rural firefighting.

"Mrs. Eakin would meet any fire emergency by ringing all subscribers at once and urging them all to help fight the blaze, he said."

Witnesses also said that dial telephoning on rural, multi-party lines "takes a whole evening."

But Mrs. Eakin would take their call, they said, and notify them when their party's line wasn't busy.

Adenauer Ready For Signing Peace Pact With Allies

Bonn, Germany, Thursday, May 22 —(P)—The western Allies and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer announced early today they have completed writing the Allied-West German peace contract except for a few details.

Secretary of State Acheson and his British and French colleagues are preparing to come here and sign the pact.

"We are ready for the foreign ministers," the assistant U. S. high commissioner, Samuel Reber, announced after a 13-hour conference of the western high commissioners with Adenauer.

The negotiators settled the basic principles of the controversial finance question, which had held up completion of the pact, he said.

They will hold their 33rd and final conference on the pact at 5 p. m. (11 a. m. CDT) today to wind up the few remaining details of the contract ending the seven-year occupation of West Germany and allying the Adenauer government politically and militarily with the West, Reber said.

Source: Reber said Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman would meet with Adenauer Saturday and Sunday for final discussion of the historic document.

'Smear Literature' Charge Made By Jewish League

New York, May 21 —(P)—The Anti-Defamation League (ADL) said today professional bigots are flooding the country with at least 20 anti-Semitic publications attacking the Eisenhower campaign.

League officials said similar "smear literature" also had been directed against Sen. Robert Taft (R-O) but gave no further details.

The league, a branch of B'nai B'rith, Jewish fraternal organization, made the charge at a news conference announcing publication for the league's annual report.

The report, "The Troublemakers," is a nationwide study of bigotry and is being published in book form. It was written by Arnold Forster, ADL chief counsel, and Benjamin R. Epstein, the league's national director.

Forster said "one of the most virulent pieces of anti-Semitic literature" directed against the campaign for Gen. Dwight Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination came out in primary elections in New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Wisconsin, Massachusetts, California and Texas.

Current biography says the Eisenhower family migrated from Germany in the 17th century because of religious persecution and had settled in Switzerland 100 years before their descendants decided to come to America.

The family church, according to current biography, is the Swiss-founded Brethren of Christ.

CRASH, JUST AN ILLUSION

Los Angeles, May 21 —(P)—A report of a big plane's crash sent ambulances, fire trucks and stretchers bearers into rugged mountain country above the San Fernando Valley today, but it all turned out to be an optical illusion.

Battalion Fire Chief Clarke Hodgson evaluated the "wreckage" as the sun gleaming from the white tops of six buses belonging to a movie company.

Credit Illinois Man One MIG Damaged, One Destroyed

Seoul, Thursday, May 21 —(P)—Capt. Robert W. McKittrick, Edwardsville, Ill., was credited with damaging one Russian-made MIG-15 jet Wednesday in an air battle near the Manchurian border.

Elements of a flight of 30 U. S. Sabre jets hopped 10 MIGs and in a 10-minute dogfight sent them fleeing back across the border to their Manchurian bases.

The fighting swept from 30,000 feet down to 2,000 feet.

McKittrick's total is one MIG destroyed and one damaged. His wife, Geraldine, lives at Edwardsville. He is the son of Mrs. Laura A. McKittrick of Edwardsville.

CROPPING FLYER CRASHES INTO TREE

Rockford, Ill., May 21 —(P)—A low-flying private plane today crashed into a tree near Pecatonica, Ill., seriously injuring a Michigan man on his first flight for a crop-dusting service.

Harris said Redlaw was making his first trial flight when the accident occurred.

'Spirit Of St. Louis' Twenty Five Years Ago

St. Louis, May 21 —(P)—"Down town there was whistle blowing and bell ringing, followed by automobile honking and backfiring . . . and on the Mississippi, every craft which had steam up joined the chorus on land."

That's how St. Louisans reacted 25 years ago today to word of Charles A. Lindbergh's arrival in Paris from New York in the tiny monoplane, "Spirit of St. Louis."

The description comes from news accounts of the day. (The same newspapers show that tenderloin steaks were selling for 17 cents a pound, new potatoes 10 pounds for 59 cents and coffee, two pounds for 66 cents.)

Only three of Lindbergh's backers are still alive and only one of these is in St. Louis. He is E. Lansing Ray, publisher of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Friday night Ray will be honored at a banquet given by the Greater

Rail Labor Dispute Ends, Unions Agree

Washington, May 21 —(P)—The three-year rail labor dispute ended tonight when three big unions reluctantly accepted a White House peace proposal.

Approval by the unions foreshadowed quick return of the seized roads to private ownership after 21 months under government control.

The carriers accepted the White House proposal Monday night.

More than 150,000 members of the engineers, firemen and conductors will get an immediate wage boost ranging up to 37 cents an hour and lump sum payments of $800 to $1,100 for back pay to October, 1950.

Back wages will cost the roads an estimated 100 million dollars.

Union approval of the new agreement, good until October 1953, was announced by the unions at their hotel here. Official announcement from presidential assistant John R. Steelman was being prepared at the White House. The unions had been conferring there all evening.

A few seconds after the unions made their announcement, the White House said actual signing of the agreements had not yet taken place and that the parties were still talking.

However, a few minutes after announcement by the unions, Steelman issued his official statement that agreement had been reached.

"I am happy to announce that the dispute was settled today," Steelman said.

The three rail union chiefs said they accepted with "some disappointment" but that "there are no better alternatives under one-sided government seizure and rule by labor injunction."

The roads have been under technical control of the army since they were seized in August, 1949, to avert a nationwide strike. Since March, 1949, when the long dispute over working rules and wages got started, strikes and "sick" walkouts have occurred at least three times—in 1950, 1951 and last March.

The March strike brought a no-strike court order still in effect.

The agreement approved tonight is substantially the same as one tentatively accepted by heads of the three unions in December, 1950, but rejected by the rank-and-file.

But it contains one change which the unions called a "major improvement" over the spurned 1950 proposal. That change gives the unions the right to reject carrier demands for extending the runs of train crews beyond a divisional terminal point.

The fourth big operating union, the trainmen, settled its dispute with the roads a year ago when it accepted the December, 1950 proposal.

War Buildup By Russia, Ridgway Says

Washington, May 21 —(P)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said today Soviet Russia is carrying on a big and "significant" military buildup in the Far East, while the Communists in Korea command a bigger offensive punch than ever before.

But the four-star general said that if the Reds should strike now with an all-out attack in Korea, they would be thrown back with "tremendous losses" on their side.

Discussing the critical Far East situation with senators on Capitol Hill and with newsmen at the Pentagon, Ridgway made these other points:

1. The outlook for an immediate cease-fire agreement in Korea is not bright, but efforts to reach a settlement should continue.

2. He would not advocate any ultimatum to the Reds in connection with truce negotiations.

3. The United Nations are not strong enough to stage an all-out offensive to drive the Communists out of Korea, or to begin bombing nearby Soviet Manchurian bases.

4. A "crackdown" is needed—and may be expected soon—to restore order in revolt-ridden Allied prison camps in Korea. Fanatical Reds have committed numerous atrocities, including murder, and conducted reign of terror against other prisoners who showed little enthusiasm for Communism.

In broad terms, Ridgway sketched that picture of the Asiatic situation while en route to relieve Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as supreme Allied commander in Europe.

Tomorrow, Ridgway will address a joint meeting of congress at 11:30 a. m. E.S.T., with at least one television network (NBC), carrying the event from coast to coast.

Ridgway is scheduled to leave by plane for Paris on Monday after a stopover in New York to visit United Nations headquarters there.

John Garfield, Stage, Movie Star Dies In New York

New York, May 21 —(P)—John Garfield, 39-year-old stage and movie tough guy, died of a heart attack in the bedroom of a beautiful blonde today. Authorities said they found nothing suspicious.

Garfield's pugnaic features and manner made him a natural for hard-boiled roles. He became a star after he played a minor role in the Broadway stage play "Golden Boy" in 1937.

The blonde, Irish Whittney, 36, blue-eyed and striking, told police Garfield became ill while visiting her Gramercy Park apartment last night and decided to rest there overnight. He had a heart attack about a year ago and been under a doctor's care since.

Garfield and his wife grew up together in New York's lowest east side and their marriage was the first for both of them. They have two children, David, 8, and Julie, 5. Their home is on Central Park west.

A family friend, Barry Hyams, told newsmen he didn't think Garfield and his wife were separated, despite reports of a split-up. She saw him yesterday, he added. As for Miss Whittney, Hyams said:

"He had been seeing a lot of people to interview in connection with a play, 'Fragile Fox,' which he expected to produce in the fall and possibly direct."

"The only reason I can think of for his visiting her was that she was interested in plays and the financing of plays."

Acheson Tries For Treaty

Will Make Germany Independent

Washington, May 21 —(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson, ready to fly to Europe on a few hours notice, clung to hope today that issues blocking agreement on the rearmament of Western Germany will be quickly cleared up.

Delays are already threatening the timetable for adding German strength to NATO defense forces in Europe. Officials have hoped that this strengthening process might be started by the end of the year.

Acheson told a news conference today he hoped the final points still in dispute at meetings going on now in Europe may be worked out in a day or so. He said he also hoped he would be promptly informed and declared that he would then leave at once on a flight expected to take him first to the seat of the West German government at Bonn and subsequently to Paris.

Will Join Eden And Schuman

Assuming that final agreement is reached shortly, the tentative plan is for Acheson to join with British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Schuman at Bonn early next week in signing a peace contract with German Chancellor Adenauer. This will make Western Germany almost a completely independent state.

Subsequently in Paris Acheson expects to observe the signing of a treaty for a European Defense Community (EDC) among Western Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg. This treaty would make Germany's armed forces, along with those of France and the other countries, a part of a western European army under an international staff. That army in turn would become a unit of the North Atlantic treaty command which also includes British and American troops.

All EDC Countries But Germany Belong

All the EDC countries but Germany are members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. In order to give Germany the same guarantees of assistance in event it is attacked, the treaty nations will prepare an amendment extending the treaty to cover West Germany. Acheson will sign this at Paris, it is expected.

All these developments hinge on ironing out the problems now delaying the final agreement on a peace contract and the EDC treaty.

Acheson told his news conference today that the Senate foreign relations committee was ready to speed action. But he also made it clear that the committee must have as much time as events will permit and that the greatest chance of success in getting a Senate okay would rest on the earliest possible signing.

BOILER INSPECTION BY STATE BEGINS

Springfield, Ill., May 21 —(P)—A division of boiler inspection has been set up in the public safety department to carry out a new Illinois law effective this month.

Director Michael F. Seyfrid said today owners and operators of about 50,000 boilers in the state must register them and have them checked. Exempted are boilers in Chicago and those in residences, in apartment buildings with less than six families, and in farm and federal governmental operations. Chicago has its own safety code.

Seyfrid said the law was enacted to prevent Illinois from becoming a dumping ground for sub-standard boilers unacceptable to neighboring states.

Joseph A. Grant of Granite City is chairman of the board of boiler rules which will administer the new law.

A BIG BOUQUET BY MAIL

The Chamber of Commerce received a letter from Morris, Ill., the other day, that will be of interest to many Jacksonville citizens. A woman wrote her appreciation of Jacksonville business concerns and citizens who made her stay here May 2 and 3, during the Illinois High School Class B music contests, a pleasant one. She said she was expressing the sentiments of three other women who accompanied her on the trip.

The writer reviewed their activities from the time they arrived, mentioning a tourist court where they stayed, the restaurant they patronized, and several stores in which they shopped. Their rooms were comfortable, the food was delicious, and "I have never been any place where the clerks were so courteous," the writer said with reference to their shopping experience.

She continued to heap praise upon Jacksonville, concluding with: "Our stay was so perfect we all agreed that I should write a letter telling you so. Our trip will be long remembered in a city that has some of the old-fashioned friendliness and courtesy that so few places have nowadays."

Secretary John Prickett of the Chamber of Commerce was highly pleased by the letter, and permitted a reporter to read it, believing the kind things it said about Jacksonville would be of interest to business and civic circles. This was the type of letter a city likes to pull out of the mailbox. The appreciation expressed by the Morris women should serve as a reward to all Jacksonville residents who try to be nice to visitors.

AN END TO FAMINE

Today a large part of the world's population lives in fear and actual want. But where there can be assurance of "relative peace" with the need for defense production slowing down, mankind, in the opinion of Dr. Vannevar Bush, president of the Carnegie Institution at Washington, may reasonably look forward to a far better livelihood.

Dr. Bush's was a glowing prophecy made at the New York celebration of the centenary of the American Society of Civil Engineers. He backed it up with chapter and verse of what scientists are already producing.

Scottish fiords have been fertilized, producing more fish; oysters are raised more rapidly by controlling their food; fish ponds have already been made to yield 300 pounds of bass a year per acre of surface; experiments with algae—single plant cells—at Dr. Bush's own institution have developed a process that, he said, may "furnish food in enormous quantities with relatively little use of land, and apparently at a cost such that the status of whole populations may ultimately be greatly altered."

Crop increases from 20 to 80 per cent seem possible, this scientist declared, by the use of synthetic chemicals that soil bacteria do not attack. As to animal life, combining vitamin B-12 with antibiotics may result in chickens and hogs 30 per cent heavier with the use of the same weight of feed.

A new milk formula may result in sows having three litters instead of two per year, and breeders are seeking to produce sheep with which twin lambs will be the rule instead of the exception.

Dr. Bush looks forward within a decade to a "process of maintaining a natural harmonic balance as a means of preserving the health of the population generally."

This is an inspiring picture, involving new and improved food sources, reclamation of land, the possibility that science ultimately may make famine everywhere disappear. It is, of course, a long, hard task, requiring the best research energies of superior minds, and on the part of workers greater skills.

In the light of what he envisions, Dr. Bush's appeal for "the willingness to pioneer" as part of the education of engineers should not go unheeded.

AN OVERDUE TRIBUTE TO A PUBLIC SERVANT

New York—(AP)—In making out your will you ever consider leaving anything to a bus driver?

Probably not. Few people give a bus driver anything except a hard time.

Every boy at some time wants to be a locomotive engineer. The airplane pilot is one of the most glamorous men of the age.

But who ever made a hero of the bus driver?

And yet he carries more people safely on more important missions, year in and out, than any other figure in transportation.

And he has by far the hardest task. A train rides on its own rails and switchmen give it a fast, clear track. An airplane follows a steady beam through the skies. But a bus driver threads a devious path through the most clogged traffic in history.

How he does it is one of the marvels of our times. Who among us has to show as much skill while under so many pressures?

The miracle is that anyone can be found who can manage—all at the same time—to steer a lumbering vehicle through a busy street, make change, hand out transfers, pick up a dropped dime, keep an eye out for children darting from the sidewalks, and explain to a querulous lady why it really isn't his fault if she caught the wrong bus.

It is no wonder that several years ago a New York bus driver, bored by his routine back-and-forth life, took his route and drove south for Florida sunshine.

People are funny, one bus driver told me. "Right when you are driving nothing but 'deads' Christmas comes and one or two will hand you ke-small present when they pay their fare. Then you get to thinking they are people again."

I remember another driver who said he was going to quit because he had begun to talk in his sleep.

I asked: "What do you say in your sleep?"

"My wife say all I do is mumble move to the rear of the bus, please, more room in back." He said: "That's all I say all day. Why should I say it all night, too?"

We have a national cranberry week, a national dog week, a national cage bird week, a national croquet week. Why not at least a national bus driver day to honor the guy who all year long gets us in one piece to wherever we want to go?

Fare enough?

SHAW'S HOME SOUGHT
 Dun Laoghaire, Ireland—(AP)—A committee of Dun Laoghaire's local council is considering buying the house of the late George Bernard Shaw on Killiney Hill.

The great playwright's former home, called Torca Cottage, overlooks the sea about 10 miles outside Dublin. If the council buys the place, it will become a Shaw museum.

BROTHERS BREED CHINCHILLA
 Indianapolis—(AP)—Two brothers started with two pairs of chinchilla three years ago and now they have 87 of the precious rodents on their 25-acre chinchilla ranch.

The chinchilla, valued at $1,500 a pair, was almost extinct in 1922, say Louis and Charles Darko. The brothers say it will be several years before enough breeding stock is accumulated to put pellets on the market.

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

BY ERSKINE

Hollywood—(NEA)—Susan Ball: A sultry, brunet Jenny-come-lately with an above-the-neck resemblance to Jane Russell.

A G. I. snapped a picture of her, sent it to a Hollywood agent and presto—Susan was gulping in whiffs of scented movietown air. UI signed her, tossed her the second feminine lead with Shelley Winters in "Untamed" and has just hoisted her to stardom with Jeff Chandler and Scott Brady in "Yankee Buccaneer." How did she fare with Shelley?

"She was kind to me," says Susan. "Why do people look surprised when I say that?"

Jack Palance: No competition to Cornell Wilde or Robert Taylor in the profile league, but still something for the girls, according to Joan Crawford, who picked Jack as her leading man in "Sudden Fear."

Tall, off-beat and rugged, Jack comes from the Broadway stage. "Where I was in a series of flops that lasted about ten performances each."

A menace again in Paramount's "Shane," he shudders: "I never played a heavy until I hit Hollywood. I'm hoping this part in 'Sudden Fear' changes things. I'm no monster."

"BEG MIXATION"

Ava Noring: Fox's green-eyed, Hungarian-born looker makes her film bow in "The Full House" and is playing one of Gregory Peck's loves in "The Snows of Kilimanjaro." A studio talent scout spotted her in New York TV shows and arranged for her to test for a movie that was never made.

Ava on her name, which was changed from the Hungarian Eva: "Ees beg mixation. I pick up telephone—I say thees ees Ava and people ees disappoint. They theenk ees Ava Gardner. I theenk I change to Ada, hoh? Tees way I weel not have to change monograms on my bath towels."

Dean Miller: A Ray Millandish lad smacked out of TV in Cincinnati, where I was a poor man's Ralph Edwards in audience participation shows and sold bras between segments of old Theda Bara movies.

The ticket to Hollywood that Dean bought as a vacation treat turned out to be a ticket to stardom. In the club car of the train, he bumped into MGM execs Doris Schary and L. K. Sidney, and proceeded to sing the praises of video to them.

The biggie gulped, invited him to take a screen test and Dean never returned to Cincinnati. You'll be seeing him in "Skirts Ahoy" and "Because You're Mine."

Dean meanwhile, antitheses: "Hal Roach and Jerry Fairbanks may be doing fine with TV films, but one of these days MGM will get into it. Then watch out."

WEST IS GOOD TO JULIA

Julia Adams: Jennifer Jones and Rita Hayworth came up from western quickie films, and so did this brunet from Little Rock, Ark.

She was known as Betty Adams in her poke Bonnet days, but combed the oaks right out of her tresses when UI tossed her the role of the spoiled Southern girl in "Bright Victory."

Julia now has "Bend of the River" and "The Texas Man" to her credit and remarks: "Everything's happening so fast I can't catch up with myself."

Palmer Lee: A tall, husky newcomer who's Ann Blyth's leading man in "Sally and Saint Ann." A few years ago Palmer was a radio announcer in San Francisco and finally headed the "you-ought-to-be-in-movies" talk.

"So I found myself driving a truck by day and doing little theater work at night," grins Palmer, who admits that the going was rough and that his bags were packed for a quick exit a few hours before an agent wangled a screen test for him.

"He's in 'The Battle of Apache Pass,' 'Red Ball Express' and 'Francis Goes to West Point.'"

Barbara Rush: First of Paramount's Golden Circle chicks to leave the studio incubator "because I was getting a lot of publicity but no acting parts."

Big-eyed, brunet Barbara was discovered at Pasadena Playhouse by a talent scout two years ago. Now the word's out that Barbara after a visit from the stork this summer will go under contract to Fox where her young husband, Jeffrey Hunter, toils.

The solution for any actress is to marry an actor like Jeffrey? Barbara declares: "He can cook and keep house."

The MATURE PARENT

Fear of Ridicule Makes
 Mother Ridicule Child

BY MURIEL LAWRENCE

Some time ago, Stan decided that he wanted to drink his milk out of one of his baby sister's bottles. He took it to bed with him every night along with his adored dump truck. It was quite a sight to see him sucking briskly at his bottle while he arranged his dump truck carefully under the covers for the night.

His mother did not find it funny or ridiculous. She was pleased that he was able to reveal so freely his need to convince himself that his baby sister wasn't getting away with any special privileges. Now Stan is bored with the bottle and is drinking his milk from his silver mug once more.

His mother is not deficient in a sense of humor. She laughs very heartily at Stan when he imitates airplanes. She knows that Stan is inviting laughter by his demand for milk in a baby's bottle. This is protective training. Stan has emerged from his little lapse from proper behavior standards unscathed by fear of ridicule.

Just as we do not feed broiled lobster to small boys and girls, we should not offer them ridicule which their emotional systems cannot digest. Like Stan, they revert to "babyish" conduct because their self-esteem is under strain. At such times, they are most vulnerable. It is unfortunate that these are also the times when we are most likely to make fun of them.

Our motive for trying to jeer children out of "babyish" habits is not nearly so pure as we are apt to think. To Mary who is demanding the right to ride in her little brother's baby carriage, her mother says, "Stop pushing like that! You ought to be ashamed—a big girl like you wanting to ride in Billy's baby buggy."

Although she doesn't know it, Mrs. Brown is really talking to the neighbor who has been watching critically. She ridicules Mary because she fears ridicule of herself by her neighbor. She fears that the neighbor may say to someone, "Oh, she acts like a fool with her children. She lets that four-year-old ride in her brother's baby carriage."

To uproot this fear of ridicule, Mrs. Brown must stop calling it pretty names like "shyness." It thrives on unawareness and will continue not only to despoil Mary of a poised, sure mother but will encourage deprecation of her by others. Just as Mrs. Brown never dared to describe her genuine secretarial competence completely to personnel managers before she married, now she never dreams of expressing her opinions at meetings of her literary club. Yet her opinions might be valuable to it, as Mrs. Brown worked for some years as secretary to a well-known editor. Her dread of being thought "silly" denies her the satisfaction of others' respect that belong to her.

The child guidance books will give Mrs. Brown enlightening information on the hazards of ridiculing her little girl's desire to claim equal privileges with the baby brother whom she envies. They may not suggest that she apply to herself what she learns about what fear of ridicule can do.

This is too bad, as Mary will be doing many things that may seem ridiculous to others. Unless her mother recovers from her own allergy to what they think, she'll be running to the child guidance books every 10 minutes. That is why, instead of spending all her time studying what fear of ridicule can do to Mary, it is a good idea for her to reflect upon its manipulation of her.

When Mrs. Brown knows how, when and why this fear was planted in her, she will not need any child guidance book to plead for her protection of a child against it.

Chronic Prostate Infections
 Seldom Can Be Cured Rapidly

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
 Written for NEA Service

The prostate is a small sex gland which stores the seminal fluid. The openings into it are narrow so that it makes a particularly good place for germs to grow. Infections of this gland are usually divided into acute and chronic varieties.

Acute prostatitis is often, but by no means always, caused by a germ called the gonococcus which is the cause of gonorrhea. However, many organisms can grow in this gland and mixtures of germs are frequent. Germs can invade the prostate along the urinary passages or can be carried there by the blood stream.

The symptoms of acute infection of the prostate may be mild or severe. The most common ones at the beginning are disturbances of urination, such as burning, frequency, and dribbling. Pain or a feeling of fullness may or may not be present.

During the acute stage absolute rest in bed and avoidance of strain is necessary. The application of heat, alkalizing the urine and drinking fluids freely also may be desirable.

In the past this was about all which could be done at first, but now medicines, like the sulfas and penicillin, have been found valuable in many cases.

Chronic inflammation of the prostate is extremely common condition and like the acute variety, is sometimes, but by no means always, caused by the gonococcus. Chronic prostatitis is likely to become less common in the future as it often follows acute infection, which can now be treated with better chances of complete cure.

Chronic prostatitis often produces few if any symptoms. Some patients have only a small amount of pus. Others have urinary symptoms similar to those of the acute variety but not so severe. Local signs of prostate infection may be absent altogether, but the infection may cause difficulties elsewhere in the body such as arthritis, neuritis, muscular pains or irritis.

Treatment May Be Long
 In order to make an accurate diagnosis, the prostatic secretion has to be obtained and examined under the microscope. This will reveal the nature of the trouble and what germs are responsible.

A long-lasting chronic prostatitis is difficult to cure. Treatment include such methods as promoting drainage, prostatic massage, heat applications and sometimes vaccines treatment with drugs. Whatever treatment is followed, however, may take a long time and be most discouraging. It is well, therefore, for someone with chronic prostatitis not to expect a rapid cure.

The World Today

BY JAMES MARLOW

Washington, May 21—(AP)—If the new Attorney General, James P. McGranery, picks up where he left off a couple of months ago he'll call in J. Edgar Hoover and tell the FBI boss: "Eddie, let's see those files."

Last April 4, right after President Truman chose him for Attorney general, the 56-year old McGranery told newsmen Hoover would be given the job of finding any misconduct in the government.

At the time McGranery couldn't tell Hoover to investigate anybody since he wasn't attorney general and couldn't be until the senate approved, which it did yesterday.

It's hardly an exaggerated guess that Hoover is less than delighted by the prospect of making a special inquiry into the high life and low life of government officialdom. His FBI already has plenty of chores.

At least in one direction, Hoover would be handicapped before he started. He couldn't investigate the treasury department where most of the wrong-doing has been found. By special law of congress only treasury investigators can investigate the treasury.

Still, if McGranery asks Hoover for his files their chat may turn out to be very fruitful, if they have a chat.

Since it has been making loyalty investigations of government workers for some years now, the FBI undoubtedly has accumulated interesting oddments.

Two Women Fall Through Attic Floor, Injured

Jerseyville — Mrs. William Allen and Mrs. Theima Scoggins of this city suffered injuries in an unusual accident at the residence property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Allen at Fourth and High streets in this city.

Allen was laying a floor in the attic of the dwelling which they purchased recently. Mrs. Allen and her daughter, Mrs. Scoggins, went up to the attic to talk with Allen and view the work being done.

Mrs. Allen stepped off a ceiling joist of the unfloored part of the attic onto the lath of the ceiling of the room below. The lath gave way and she fell through the ceiling into the room below.

Mrs. Scoggins, when she saw Mrs. Allen crash through the lathing of the ceiling, attempted to grasp her mother and prevent her fall. In her effort, she also lost her footing and crashed through the ceiling.

The Gubser ambulance was called to the Allen property and Mrs. Allen was removed to St. Joseph's hospital in Alton where she remained as a patient for X-ray examination and treatment of injuries. Mrs. Scoggins' injuries were not of a nature to require hospitalization.

Local Officers See Intoximeter Tests

Drivers who insist they have had "just a beer or two," but who show signs of drunkenness, probably will face scientific tests in the near future when they are picked up by officers in the Jacksonville area.

Four officials of Morgan county and the city watched a series of tests conducted Tuesday at the Sangamon county court house by a representative of the Intoximeter Company. Sheriff Earl Hembrough, State's Attorney Albert W. Hall, Sgt. Francis Willner and Patrolman Leroy Leach of the police department were among the 25 interested spectators, all of whom were law enforcement officers from Central Illinois counties.

The Morgan county officers are reported to have been favorably impressed by the results of the equipment and tests. The operator used several jars in which alcohol solutions of varying degrees had been placed to draw fumes for the tests. The jars produced the same effect as breath from the lungs of intoxicated persons, according to the company representative.

Sangamon county has used the Intoximeter equipment for some time. That county has had about 200 convictions for drunken driving this year with 115 cases pending.

While no official action has yet been taken to provide police department and sheriff's office cars with this equipment, it is understood that officers will recommend its purchase.

S. Jacksonville PTA Asks Union Of School With City's District

An open meeting will be held Monday night at 8 p. m. to discuss a proposal to unite Consolidated School District No. 2 with Jacksonville School District No. 117, it was announced at a meeting of the South Jacksonville Parent-Teachers' association Tuesday.

The PTA, on motion of A. Wadsworth Applebee, voted to accept a report recommending union of the South Jacksonville school district with Jacksonville's. The report was drawn up by a committee appointed by the PTA in January to study the subject exhaustively. Chairman of the committee is Attorney William T. Wilson.

Purpose of the report was to discover and recommend a solution to the problem posed for all non-high school areas in the state by the Illinois General Assembly when it passed a law requiring the dissolution of non-high school districts by July 1, 1953.

The report said the committee explored all possible alternatives. Six possibilities presented themselves and each was examined carefully, the committee said. The alternatives were analyzed on the basis of comparative cost, provision of adequate opportunities for school children in the South Jacksonville district, and the likelihood of reaching agreement with the Jacksonville board of education.

The report outlined the six alternatives as follows: 1. To do nothing; 2. Form a community high school district out of the present Morgan county non-high school area; 3. Form a community unit district out of the non-high school district; 4. Divide the non-high school area among the existing surrounding unit districts in the county; 5. Annexation to Jacksonville School District No. 117 through petition and approval by the county court; 6. Formation of a new community unit district including Jacksonville, by a referendum.

The report said alternatives No. 1 and 4 were rejected by the committee as creating the possibility that South Jacksonville students might be sent to schools distant from their homes for their high school education. Upon graduation from the grade school, most students at present attend Jacksonville high school on a tuition fee basis.

Plans No. 2 and 3 were rejected, the report continued, "because of the prohibitive cost of building and operating a high school which would offer educational opportunities comparable to those now offered by Jacksonville District No. 117."

It was pointed out by a PTA member that a new building would cost at least a million dollars and probably more.

Might Violate Law

It was also pointed out that the creation of a community unit district omitting Jacksonville might violate a provision of the state school code which requires that the territory of a school district be contiguous and compact. Such an area as contemplated in plans No. 2 and 3 is popularly known as a "doughnut district" because the urban area, which is in the center of the area, is not included in the school district and is completely surrounded by it. This would be the situation with reference to Jacksonville and the present non-high school district of Morgan county.

Plan No. 6 was rejected "because the formation of a new community district would require circulation of a petition calling for a hearing and election, both in Jacksonville and Consolidated District No. 2 and hence would be more difficult to accomplish." A similar plan was overwhelmingly rejected three years ago by both Jacksonville and rural voters.

A provision of the school code requires that no more than three members of a seven-member board of education of a community unit district may hail from the same

Tuesday night "was composed of citizens from every segment in the community." Included were parents of school children, non-parents, property-holders, non-property owners, farmers, labor and men from the professions and business communities. Only two or three failed to sign the report.

Mrs. Tucker's coming to town... TOMORROW!

Beardstown, Ill.—Work on the new bridge which will span the Illinois river at this point is underway.

After many months' planning by state engineers, actual construction work has started, which will provide Beardstown with a toll-free bridge. It will be built several thousand feet downstream from the present span, which is owned by the City of Beardstown.

Offices of the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company are in a building and red trailer located across the levee from West Main street.

Many local workmen are employed on the project. A visit to the site at noon hour showed lots of activity most of the workmen being occupied on the driving of concrete piling out in the river on the Cass side. They were working from a large barge anchored offshore.

Fourteen cars of workmen were parked in the areaway.

Equipment for the bridge work arrived here April 13 when the river stood at 15.6 feet but work was delayed until a more favorable river stage was reached.

The foundation of the bridge will be on 18-inch pre-cast concrete piles up to 55 feet long and weighing ten tons.

The new bridge which will be 2,500 feet long will rest on 16 river piers and two abutments extending from the levee on the Schuyler side to the levee on the Beardstown side.

Three dance pupils of Mary Jane Grant, Stevie Herron, Judy Minks and Colleen Flynn, presented tap dancing.

Child Welfare Group Chooses 3 New Members

The Morgan County Child Welfare Advisory Committee met in regular session Monday at the Dunlap Hotel, with Mrs. Walter Belatti, chairman for the coming year, presiding.

Three new members were elected to the Advisory Committee. They are Ivan Garrison, Fred Bailey, and Mrs. Frances King.

Dr. Malcolm F. Stewart of Illinois College spoke to the group on the work being done through the college in co-operation with the Division of Youth and Community Service. Dr. Stewart said this program, as well as similar programs started all over the country, had its beginning "in the realization that the preservation of our democracy depends on the maintenance of the small communities."

Illinois College pays half the salary of a person to supervise and guide the program. The state pays the other half of the salary and furnishes the personnel.

At present, after two years, Dr. Stewart said "there are eight students studying under this plan. These students go out into small communities in and around Morgan county, observe the various local organizations in existence, and help them in dealing with community problems, whether it is recreational need for juveniles, an economical need for workers when the mines close down, or a health need because the community has no doctor."

Dr. Stewart explained "we are not training professionals. We hope to make the education of the college student practical and applicable to their lives when they finish school and return to their communities. These students will be better citizens because they will understand the necessity for each community to solve its own problems in its own way."

MORGAN - SCOTT HOME BUREAU NEWS

Store Fur-Trimmed Coats In Cool Place
Store your fur-trimmed coat in a cool place that is not too dry. Fur pelts dry out and split during storage in a warm, dry place. Be sure you air fur well before storing. Then beat it gently with small supple switches, such as willow. That beats out any moth larvae.

See that your coat is clean before you store it, because moths attack any soiled spots. However, avoid dry cleaning the fur excessively. Dry cleaning takes the oil out and causes the pelts to split.

Store your coat in a cedar closet or in a closet reserved especially for fall and winter garments. Use paradichloride of benzene crystals to protect it from moths.

Store Your Winter Clothing Clean
Be sure your winter clothes are clean before you store them. Moths will attack any spots they can find. They thrive on lint, so be sure to brush out pockets and cuffs.

Store your clothing in any place that can be closed all summer—in a chest, a closet or boxes. Protect your clothing against moths with paradichloride of benzene crystals. Use one pound of crystals to 10 cubic feet of space.

Since paradichloride evaporates, you will want to avoid constant opening and closing of your storage space.

To fight silver fish that eat rays and cottons: Mix one tablespoon sodium fluoride (it's poisonous) with one cup flour. Sprinkle the mixture on shelves and around the bottom of closets.

Too Much Sun Can Have Lasting Dangers
The sun's rays are like an active drug—a little can be a big help in many conditions, but some people get too much.

There is cause for concern when people try to acquire "brown as a berry" complexions instead of "healthy tan" ones.

Immediate dangers from sunburn can be controlled to a certain extent. But there is long-term danger of skin cancer from continuous overexposure to direct sunlight.

Most skin cancers result from long, continued abuse. Fair-skinned people, especially, should be content with only moderate amounts of sunshine. When the skin is exposed to the elements and to sunlight for a long time, it gradually becomes dry, slightly scaly and freckled or covered with so-called liver spots. This condition has been popularly called "sailor's skin." As time goes on, some of those freckles may become wartlike or degenerate into skin cancers.

Experience plus good judgment will tell most people when they've had enough sunshine — though mothers may need to exercise some control where children are concerned.

Canning Season Ahead—Check Pressure Canner
While you have fresh asparagus growing in your garden, get some of it into your freezer or can it. You will enjoy it next winter when fresh asparagus is not on the market.

Asparagus is a low-acid vegetable, and the only way to can it safely is to use your pressure canner. That's to kill the deadly botulism bacteria that can form in low-acid vegetables.

Before you start using your pressure canner, be sure that it is in good working condition. Check the gauge, petcock and safety valve.

Your county home adviser or the dealer who sells your make of canner can give you information on checking the dial-faced gauge for accuracy. If the gauge is as much as five pounds off, replace it.

Check your pressure canner, too, for steam leaks. If there are leaks, the rubber gasket may need replacing. Or if your canner has a metal-to-metal closure, ask your home advisers how to regrid the metal surfaces.

Then remove the petcock, gauge and safety valve, and run a narrow strip of cloth or a pipe cleaner through the openings. Even though you stored your canner clean, there may be dust and other accumulations from storage. Soak the petcock and safety valve in vinegar to loosen any accumulation.

Limestone is used in the steel industry as a slag forming material.

Alias Basil Willing

By Helen McCloy

Copyright 1951 by Helen McCloy. Reprinted by permission of the publisher, Simon &amp; Schuster, Inc. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Jack Duggan, a private detective, was murdered and Miss Katherine Shaw dies following mysterious circumstances. Although the dinner seemingly was a part of Dr. Zimmer's treatment for some of his patients, Basil has found many suspicious things in connection with it, including the fact that Duggan had been impersonating Basil. However, Dr. Zimmer has decided to resume these gatherings and has arranged for a party, one of the guests at the final party, has accepted. Meanwhile, Brinsley Shaw, nephew of the dead woman, has been talking to Charlotte Dean, Miss Shaw's secretary, about disposing of his aunt's personal belongings.

It was Brinsley Shaw who wished to change the subject now. "By the way, I have an invitation for you. We are both invited to dine Friday at Dr. Zimmer's."

Charlotte Dean was surprised. "That is very kind of Dr. Zimmer and Mrs. Mann. I hope you will thank them for me, but I really must decline."

"Why?" He looked at her directly, annoyed. "Because Greta wrote to me instead of you? That was only natural, I think."

Charlotte was a little rattled by his inimitable stare. "I think . . . I mean . . . Miss Shaw's been dead only a few weeks. I should rather not go out to dine anywhere and especially at Dr. Zimmer's, where there are unhappy associations."

"You're old fashioned. Aunt Kay herself wouldn't want us to be so . . ." He sought a word. "Morbidity?"

"You think so?"

"I'm sure of it. And I'm going to accept Zimmer's invitation. Zimmer is on a spot. If his patients don't stick by him, it will cause talk that will ruin his practice. I owe him a lot. He's nearly cured me, you know, and I was in a pretty bad way. I'd like to help him. After all, nobody at Zimmer's that evening had anything to do with that detective who died so suddenly and, if we all hang together, we'll make the police realize it."

Charlotte dropped her eyelids. Her high, clear voice lost its usual steadiness. "You and I were at Dr. Zimmer's that evening and we had something to do with Duggan, because it was Miss Shaw, your aunt and my employer, who employed him."

Brinsley gasped. "You don't mean to say you actually believe that cockeyed theory of the cops that Aunt Kay had employed Duggan to come to Zimmer's that night?"

Charlotte remembered that Dr. Willing had said she must not tell anyone about the slip of paper signed "J. Bush."

"Be your age, Charlotte!" It was the first time Brinsley had dropped the "Miss Dean" that Katherine Shaw insisted upon. "The police are up a tree, so, to save face, they make up all sorts of nonsensical theories with nothing to go on. I knew Aunt Kay better than you did and I can't visualize her having anything to do with a private detective. Are you coming with me to Zimmer's Friday night or not?"

"I should like to think it over." "All right. Let me know when you decide." He rose, bundling letters and newspapers together. "If anyone phones me after 11, I'm lunching at the club and I won't be home until dinner time."

He went out of the room, leaving a thick silence behind him. After a moment, Charlotte rang for Mary. "We're all through and Mr. Shaw won't be here for luncheon."

Charlotte went out into the tiny garden walled with skyscrapers, a flower bed at the bottom of a well. It was the first time she and Brinsley had discussed Miss Shaw's death since the police had been there. His attitude disturbed her profoundly. What did he know? Were the Hepplewhite chairs a bribe? Why should Brinsley care whether she went to dinner with him or not? Charlotte sat alone in the garden until the clock struck 11. Only as she re-entered the house did she realize that she'd been waiting for Brinsley to leave—that she didn't want to be in the same house with him any longer than she could help.

SHE went to the telephone. "Dr. Willing? This is Charlotte Dean. Something has happened and I want to consult you about it. Dr. Zimmer is resuming the series of dinners for his patients and their families. Brinsley Shaw is going and I've been invited to go with him. He wants me to accept. Indeed he is making quite a point of it. Do you think I should?"

There was silence at the other end of the line for a moment. Then: "Have you repeated anything about our discovery in the cellar to anyone? Anyone at all?"

The calm voice was reassuring. Charlotte's own voice grew steadier. "Of course not. I promised I wouldn't."

"Then I know of no reason why it would be dangerous for you to go—if that is what you're asking me."

"It is. I must confess that I am frightened a little."

"Then perhaps I'm not the person you should ask."

"Why not?"

"I should like very much to hear from an eye-witness what that dinner is like. If you went you might be kind enough to tell me about it afterward."

"Oh, Dr. Willing, if you think I could help you by going . . ."

"I do. But I must remind you of what I said a moment ago. I know of no reason why it would be dangerous. . . . There may be some reason that I know nothing about."

"I'll take that risk."

"I'm not asking you to do so. It's something that you must decide for yourself. Better think it over for a day or so."

"Oh, no. I've decided. And thank you, Dr. Willing, for giving me a chance to help. I was very fond of Miss Shaw."

Blueboys Bow To Wesleyan; Rout Trims Franklin 7-2

Bloomington College Nine Tips Brooksmen 9-3 In 7 Inning Bout

Bloomington—(Special)—The Illinois college Blueboys bowed to Illinois Wesleyan 9-3 in a baseball game shortened to seven innings by rain here yesterday afternoon.

The Little Nine conference victory left Wesleyan in a three-way tie for the league leadership with Millikin and Augustana.

Wesleyan smacked Illinois college's starting pitcher Jack Blakeman for five hits and five runs in the opening innings. The Titans scored a single time in the second.

Virgil Trucks In Near No-Hit Game, Wins 5-1

Detroit, May 21—(AP)—Speedballing Virgil Trucks, nervously intent on pitching his second straight no-hit game, ran his hitless string to 15 and 2/3 innings for the Detroit Tigers today. Then Billy Hitchcock of the Philadelphia Athletics spoiled it with a one-out single in the seventh inning. The Tigers won, 5-1.

It was obvious that the 33-year-old right-hander from Birmingham, Ala., was trying to equal Johnny Vander Meer's 1934 record of hurling two straight no-hitters for the Cincinnati Reds. He worked slowly and fidgeted constantly.

Virgil, who tossed a 1-0 no-hitter against Washington last Thursday, retired Ferris Paine on a grounder to lead off the seventh inning. But Hitchcock rifled his first pitch cleanly to left center and the 3,718 paid fans groaned.

FAN BREEZES

BY BOB MERRIS

'Tis rumored that the Little Nine conference, of which Illinois college is a member, is headed for the rocks. Carthage, our neighbor on the west, dropped out of the loop at the annual meeting last weekend. Reports have it that some other schools are thinking of following.

The northernmost schools in the league, Augustana, Wheaton and Lake Forest, would like to play schools farther north. This leaves Illinois Wesleyan, Millikin, North Central, Elmhurst and Illinois college holding onto nothing much.

The Blueboys have always managed to win most of the time from such schools as Carthage, Elmhurst, and North Central. However, Millikin and Wesleyan are always too tough. We can afford to be neutral from a middle-ground position.

The Little Nine is a throwback from the Little Nineteen, which local fans will remember as the top small college conference in the middle west 15 years ago. The Little Nineteen broke up when such schools as Bradley decided to go independent and expand. Bradley expanded into the national picture—and how!

The wind that blows such rumors into our office howls that Carthage is breaking away for much the same reason. A new coach has been hired. He wants to expand operations, play an independent schedule, with the idea of building the institution around the gymnasium and gridiron.

This is a change from all the talk of de emphasis by other schools. Don't know if it's good or bad. But we are fairly certain that Illinois college will never go along with such plans. The Hilltop administration still adheres to the philosophy that young men and women come to college to get an education. And we think that it's right.

Hogan Favored To Win Colonial Starting Today

Port Worth, Tex., May 21—(AP)—A field of 48, including champions of 28 of the 39 tournaments on the PGA schedule the past year, went through last time-ups today for the $15,000 Colonial National Invitation.

The links show, which will boast 16 of the leading 25 money-winners of the year, opens Thursday with Ben Hogan, playing a course he knows like a book, the favorite for first money.

Hogan will be seeking his third championship in six Colonial tournaments.

Par 35-35—70 on the 7,035-yard course, called one of the toughest in the country, has taken a hammering from the "shadow boxing" of the star-spangled field. Hogan has done 66 twice. Lloyd Mangrum, the dapper man from Chicago, has posted a 67, and Jack Burke, who is No. 1 in money-winners this year—he has drawn down $11,220—registering 68. Demaret and several others have carded 69.

Only Sam Snead and Jim Ferrier of the top money-winners will be missing when the field tees off Thursday in the first 18 holes. Snead passed it up because of the travel involved. Ferrier had illness in his family.

Browns-Packers In Player Switch

Cleveland, May 21—(AP)—The Cleveland Browns traded Tony Adamle—who they expect to quit football—and Dopey Phelps to the Green Bay Packers today for Ace Loomis, a youngster Cleveland owned early last season.

The veteran Adamle was outside linebacker and the Browns' captain the last two years.

Phelps, a halfback, suffered injuries last season and saw little action. Adamle has told the Browns he expects to enter medical school and give up pro football.

Indians Whip Red Sox 5-1

Cleveland, May 21—(AP)—Early Wynn and Mike Garcia proved too much for the Boston Red Sox tonight and the Cleveland Indians won the two-game series opener, 5-1. Wynn, credited with his fifth victory, was rescued by Garcia in the eighth.

Three More Drivers Enter Car Races Here, Seek State Track Mark

Three more big car auto racers have joined the starting lineup for the 4th annual IMCA spring championship speed event at the fair grounds half-mile track here Sunday afternoon.

Ray Knepper, the famous mid-west AAA midget king from St. Louis, who has won many features at Springfield, Chicago, Milwaukee, Indianapolis and other leading speed centers, will make his first start here behind the wheel of a big car owned by his brother, Ollie.

Knepper, who was slated to drive the Bardahl Special in the Indianapolis "500" has changed his plans and intends to run the entire IMCA dirt track circuit this year with his own car powered with a semi-stock motor, converted from an Olds Rocket.

Another new Offenhausers has been listed for the inaugural big car meet of the year, when Jimmy Campbell of Matos City, Mo., brings his beautiful new Kurtis-Kraft dirt track creation here for a crack at the state

Chet Miller Sets Unofficial 1-Lap Mark At Speedway

Indianapolis, May 21—(AP)—Veteran race driver Chet Miller set a new unofficial one-lap record at the Indianapolis speedway today, turning the 2 1/2-mile oval at 140.187 miles an hour in a Novi V-8 Pure Oil Special.

The Glendale, Calif., driver's performance was all the more remarkable because he passed three other cars during his record run. During official qualification runs only one car is allowed on the track at a time.

American Automobile Association observers clocked Miller at 1:04.2 for the fastest lap ever recorded at the speedway.

Official records are set only during qualification runs or in the 500-mile Memorial Day race itself. The official one-lap record is 139.010 miles an hour, set last Saturday by Freddie Agabashian of Albany, Calif., in qualifying the Cummins Diesel Special.

Satch Is Winner As Browns Edge Senators 2-1

St. Louis, May 21—(AP)—Sid Hudson walked little Bobby Young with the bases loaded in the last of the 10th inning tonight to give the St. Louis Browns a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators. The triumph, credited to pitcher Satchel Paige in relief, broke a string of four consecutive losses to the Senators by the Browns this season.

The Browns, who left 15 runners stranded, proved almost reluctant to break the Washington jinx in the 10th. Courtney opened with a double, but failed to advance as Gil Coan made a game but unsuccessful try to snare Wright's long single off the left field wall. Wright pulled into second, but then backed tracked to first when confronted by Courtney.

Hank Art was purposely passed after Cass Michaels fled out and with the bases loaded Jim Rivera popped to short center in his pinch hit attempt. Then came the all important walk to Young.

Paige was his usual effective self in relief, allowing just one hit while walking none and striking out two. He came to the mound in the ninth after starter Earl Harritt had been removed for pinch-hitter Dyck.

The first Brownie run broke a 16-inning scoreless streak. It was only the second time in five games with the Senators this year that St. Louis managed to score more than one run.

Improved Rockets Win Easily Over Flashes; At Lanphier Friday

Coach Jim Smarjesse's improved Rockets trimmed Franklin 7-2 in a non-conference baseball game played on the Illinois college diamond yesterday afternoon.

The game was switched from Franklin to Jacksonville because of the better playing condition of the Hilltop diamond.

The victory was sweet revenge for the local Irish nine that suffered a setback in the hands of Vic Mosley's club earlier in the season.

The Rockets will end their season this Friday night by traveling to Lanphier.

Leading Routt batter was pinstriped Jimmy Costello who slapped out three singles in four trips to the platter. He collected just half of the Jacksonville team's hits.

Darrel Strubbe started on the mound for Franklin but was lifted in favor of Jim Knapp in the fourth inning after allowing six runs.

Paul Lawless pitched smooth baseball for Routt. He gave up five hits while striking out six.

Report Russia Training 2,000 For Olympic Games

By Will Grimsley
New York, May 21—(AP)—Don't sell Russia short in the Helsinki Olympics—the Soviets may prove the potent "dark horse" of the summer games, a member of the U. S. Olympic committee warned today.

"We have been informed that Russia has had 2,000 athletes under intense training for two years for these Olympics," Richard M. Ritter said. "We know they are determined to make a tremendous showing for political reasons."

"Also we know that Russia is dominating the Olympic programs of its satellite countries—Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary and so forth. The Soviets could shift athletes from Hungary to Russia, for instance, and no one would know any difference."

"That's just how much in the dark we are about Russian personnel and Russian strength. They aren't giving out much information but we know, from everything we hear, they are girding for a supreme effort."

Ritter, a gray-haired retired business man of Jenkintown, Pa., is honorary secretary of the World Amateur Swimming Federation. He was a U. S. Olympic swimmer in 1908, one of the organizers of that sport's world organization and has been an Olympic committee member since the 1932.

"Just this week we have been notified that Russia is assigning four swimming judges, two diving and two water polo judges to the Helsinki Olympics. That seems to be proof enough the country is planning on entering a full team."

In the 1948 games at London Americans won eight out of eight first place gold medals in the men's competition, took four of seven titles in the women's class and lost out in water polo, won by Italy.

Horace Lisenbee, pitching for the Philadelphia A's against the White Sox in 1936, allowed the Chicago team a total of 26 hits.

Allie Reynolds Pitches, Bats Yanks To Victory

Chicago, May 21—(AP)—Pitcher Allie Reynolds tripled across the first run and scored the second in a 4-run seventh which gave the New York Yankees a 5-1 win over the Chicago White Sox and the eighth victory in their last ten starts today.

Reynolds, completing his seventh consecutive game for his fourth victory, scattered five hits to beat Chicago's ace southpaw, Billy Pierce. After yielding 12 hits, Pierce was supplanted in the ninth by Howie Judson.

The lone Sox tally came on Sam Mele's fourth inning homer.

Pierce, suffering his fourth loss against two wins, was doing nicely behind his 1-0 lead until the Yankees came to life with a five-hit attack in the seventh.

Murrayville whipped Clint Arenz youngsters 12-4 in a free-for-all nightcap which featured some heavy hitting and wild base running.

Don Reynolds and Don Hazelrigg teamed up to handle mound duties for Arenz' club. Bob Garner and Bob Hall shared the assignment for Murrayville.

American Curtis Cup Team Sails For Britain

New York, May 21—(AP)—Decked out in white jackets, gardenia corsages and an atmosphere of scarcely suppressed excitement, the 1952 United States Curtis Cup golf team sailed for Britain today.

The seven girls, composing perhaps the youngest American team to play for the women's international trophy, will oppose a more experienced British team at Muirfield, Scotland, June 6 and 7. The Americans also will play in the British women's championships at Troon, June 16-20.

The players range in age from 32-year-old Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, the American women's champion, down to 24-year-old Grace De Moss of Corvallis, Ore. Others are Pat O'Sullivan of Orange, Conn., Claire Doran of Cleveland, Marjorie Lindsay of Decatur, Ill., Mae Murray of Rutland, Vt., and Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex.

They were accompanied by Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth—non-playing captain of the team—and by a 15-year-old daughter, Angela Goldthwaite, unofficial mascot.

Only Mrs. Goldthwaite, Miss Kirby and Miss Riley have ever played golf in Britain before. The others showed some concern when they were warned by former British Open champion, Willie Turner, to watch out for strong winds and slick greens on the Scottish courses.

MAY WHEAT, SOYBEANS
STRONG IN CHICAGO

Chicago, May 21—(P)—May wheat and soybeans showed strength while May corn and oats eased as trading ended in the May deliveries on the Board of Trade today.
In wheat, corn and oats action of the May contracts had considerable influence on the deferred deliveries. But in soybeans the deferred months were not able to show any strength, losing a little ground despite the fact the May came within a few cents of its seasonal peak scored last December.

U. S. Mobilization
Period May Last

Hold Art Field Day At Lafayette School

Lafayette school presented a program of creative art activity during its recent art field day, held for the benefit of parents and friends.

Each classroom demonstrated the growth of art work from studies in literature, science and social subjects, building the program around a central theme of the close relationship between art and everyday experiences.

The program was in two parts. Clyde Hull's fifth grade presented the first section in the auditorium. Two puppet plays were shown in connection with the pupils' social studies, "California Gold Rush" and "O'Neil Family Goes West."

Two more, "Adventures of Pocahontas" and "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," were developed from lessons in their literature class.

Each class contributed

Each classroom was the scene of a demonstration in the second phase of the program.

Miss Olive Venters' first graders showed modeling in clay, plastic clay and papier mache in the locker room. Animals, tiles and balls were fashioned from the materials.

In another room Mrs. Wilhelmina Damrau's first and second grade pupils made and painted a mural on the farm unit.

Finger painting was demonstrated by Miss Dorothy Crouch's second graders. Third grade pupils taught by Mrs. Vivian Albright fashioned a home unit out of cut paper.

Mrs. Thelma Demmy's fourth grade class furnished a miniature home and made a mural about the sources of materials used for home adornments and clothing.

Show Craft Work

The weaving of potholders, wood burning on cork and spatter painting were shown by the pupils of Mrs. Bobbie Jo Welch. Mrs. Nona Read's fourth and fifth graders printed a cloth hanging depicting designs in a social studies area.

Finger painting in several colors was demonstrated by Mrs. Majel Siegrist's sixth graders. Some of the pupils showed how to cover cans, cartons, boxes and notebooks, turning them into useful household articles.

Clyde Hull's fifth graders did charcoal sketching outdoors.

Covers of the programs for the field day were creative handprints made by the fourth, fifth and sixth grade classes and the Art club under the direction of Miss Marguerita Schoedsack, art consultant.

Corn Planting Speeded Throughout This Area

Farmers managed to get a lot of corn planted Wednesday, although the day was cloudy and frequent sprinkles threatened to drive them from the fields.

Possibly 60 to 70% of the corn to be planted this season is now in the ground, which is about the Illinois percentage.

Early plantings have a bad color. Some farmers expect to replant some fields, due to poor stands caused by poor sprouting in the cold, wet ground, and some wire worm and cut worm damage.

The weekly crops report released Tuesday by the Illinois cooperative crop reporting service, Springfield, said. About 50% was planted on this date a year ago and 40% two years ago. Early planted corn is up in all areas, but the lack of sunshine and below normal temperatures have caused it to have poor color. Farmers are replanting fields in some areas.

"About one-fourth of the state soybean acreage has been planted and early fields are up. Soybean planting started about 10 days earlier than usual this season, but as of today farmers have no more beans planted than they did on the same date in 1950 and 1951.

"Plowing is virtually completed. "Winter wheat and oats are in good condition in all areas. Wheat is in the boot stage in the northern half of the state and is heading out in the southern half.

"Spittle bug and clover weevil infestations are more extensive than usual. Some clover fields have been plowed as a result, and many are attempting control by spraying. Condition of alfalfa, red clover, and pastures is excellent."

Appointed To Head Division In Drive Of Salvation Army

Tom Cornish, local business man and civic leader, and W. O. Randall, district manager for the Illinois Telephone company, will head the Memorial Gift division of the Salvation Army campaign for funds for a new building, it was announced today by J. R. "Dick" Stratman, general campaign chairman.

Cornish and Randall will head a group of approximately 35 to 40 men who will work in pairs handling top prospects in the campaign which will be conducted during the month of June to raise $100,000 for a new Salvation Army building on West Douglas avenue.

"I know," Stratman said in making the announcement, "that I will have to lean heavily on both Tom Cornish and W. O. Randall during the campaign as their division will have the responsibility of carrying the main load, but I know I can count on them 100 percent."

Cornish and Randall have already started to enlist their organization and are finding willing workers on all sides. "This is the type of cooperation that goes to make a great community," they said. "Everyone seems to realize how badly the Salvation Army needs a new building and to appreciate the wonderful work Major and Mrs. Henri Servais have done for the unfortunate and underprivileged of our community."

"We hope that everyone will give generously when the call comes to supply the Salvation Army with a new building."

The campaign to raise funds for the new building will be conducted throughout Jacksonville and Morgan county. The new building will be erected on West Douglas avenue and the old building on East Beecher avenue will be sold and the proceeds applied to the new construction.
